

Dear Parent/Guardian,

Recently, we've started using a new online reading practice program in our classroom. It's called Readingful—a web app that allows your child to read brief, illustrated text passages that are appropriate for our grade level, and take quizzes to build vital reading comprehension skills.

As your child uses Readingful each day, it collects response data to show his or her continued progression in the program. So, I may periodically send a "Progress Report" home with your child.

The best part about Readingful is that it's accessible to your child both at school, as well as at home. With that in mind, I have included your child's set of user credentials with this letter. By visiting Readingful's website at <https://www.readingful.com>, this username and password allows him or her to log in on any desktop, laptop, or tablet device.

If, at any time, you have questions about your child's use of Readingful, please do not hesitate to reach out. I'm always available to help.

Sincerely,
